

Offers Negroes Use of Schools in Va. County

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — The Prince Edward School Board today offered the use of its closed schools for a summer "crash remedial program" for the county's schoolless Negro children.

The offer to sponsors of the private summer school program in the wake of the rejection by a federal court of the government's historic bid to intervene in the case to force reopening of the schools.

Judge Oren R. Lewis Wednesday turned down Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy's bid to intervene on the grounds it would "unduly delay and prejudice" the rights of both sides in the long drawn out court battle on school integration.

The school board offer was one of the few conciliatory signs in the struggle over public education in the county. The board said since it was responsible for the upkeep of the closed schools it would furnish custodial and janitorial service and provide all needed utilities. It added it might be able to make available some school bus transportation.

There was no immediate response from Negro leaders. But several weeks ago the Virginia Association of Teachers—a Negro organization—proposed the operation of a summer program to provide schooling for Negroes on a countywide basis.

Federal rejection of the government's intervention bid knocked down the Justice Department's efforts to enter the case as a co-defendant with the Negro pupils. The effort went beyond the usual government move to enter a case only as a friend of the court.

Faubus' Son May Get Into Politics

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Another Faubus may be getting some political inclinations.

Farrell E. Faubus, Gov. Orval E. Faubus' 22-year-old son, said Wednesday that he was "thinking about running for the legislature" but had not definitely made up his mind.

He might seek the legislative seat which became vacant recently when Rep. A. C. Mowery Jr. of Huntsville resigned to become state director of the federal Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

The governor said Wednesday that he was waiting to hear from Democratic leaders in Madison County before setting a date for a special election to fill Mowery's post.

June 27 has been set for the special election to fill the Conway County seat which became vacant with the death of Rep. Clay Brazill.

The June 27 date coincides with the date for the statewide vote on Faubus' proposed $60 million construction bond issue and the governor said several days ago that he planned to set the Madison County election for the same date.

Young Faubus, who recently completed his first semester at the University of Arkansas law school, said he had "talked with a few people" concerning the possibility of his seeking the Madison County post.

He also said he had heard some other names mentioned as possible candidates, but did not elaborate.

Another Suit Filed Against Former Judge

Another taxpayers' suit was filed in Hempstead Chancery Court today by B. W. Edwards naming former County Judge U. G. Garrett and L. E. Potec, local Magnolia Petroleum Co. distributor, as defendants. This is the fourth suit filed against the former judge.

The plaintiff alleges that Hempstead county paid three times for some 4,850 gallons of gasoline and other small items in the amount of $1,141.01. It alleges that payment was made October 7, 1957.

The complaint lists two other times that checks were drawn in the same amount and made payable to Magnolia Petroleum Co., as endorsed by L. E. Potec.

The complaint asks judgment against the defendants, jointly and severally, for the sum of $1,141.01, such judgment to be for the use and benefit of Hempstead County. The complaint alleges that U. G. Garrett and L. E. Potec did unlawfully draw or cause to be drawn from the County Treasury the sum of $1,141.01 and did convert it to their own use.

The first taxpayers' suit against the former judge was filed in March by B. W. Edwards. Another was filed April 8 by Monroe Kent, a farmer, and named Duckell Equipment Co. as a co-defendant. A third suit was filed by Edwards April 9. All called for the return of property purchased by the county which was allegedly disposed of illegally by Judge Garrett.

The suits resulted in a meeting of the Grand Jury, which has examined about 30 witnesses in connection with the administration of county offices. The jury hasn't filed its report and is scheduled to meet again on June 19.

A special audit of county records was financed by a citizens group which is headed by Mr. Edwards with James H. Pilkinton as its attorney. Mrs. Pilkinton was also named as an assistant to the prosecuting attorney Royce Weisenberger during the Grand Jury's investigation. The audit was made available to the jury.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara bluntly told industry today the Pentagon will not tolerate inefficiency and practices which increase military buying costs.

McNamara keynoted a special cost reduction symposium arranged by the National Security Industrial Association at McNamara's suggestion.

"A command performance," was the way one association official described it. The association is an advisory group which works closely with the Pentagon and many of its members are defense contractors.

McNamara acknowledged in his prepared remarks that the Pentagon shares responsibility with industry in trying to keep down military spending, now running at the rate of more than $40 billion a year.

"But we have an additional responsibility to see that your operations are as efficient and economical as human ingenuity can make them," McNamara said.

"The first thing we can do toward this end is devise arrangements which reward efficiency and penalize waste."

Damage Small in Two Wrecks Here

Two minor accidents were investigated by city police during the past two days. The first occurred at Third and Hazel with the collision of cars driven by David Davis and George McGill. Damage was minor. Officers Rowe and Moses charged McGill with hazardous driving.

At 13th and Walker cars driven by H. B. Fuller and D. H. Odum ran together. Officer Shirley reported only slight damage to both vehicles.

CONWAY, Ark. (AP) — The 4th annual Arkansas Dairy Festival opens here today with twelve attractive girls competing for the Arkansas Dairy Princess title and the right to represent the state in the National Dairy Princess contest. Current Arkansas Dairy Princess is Miss Nell McCauston of Siloam Springs. The festival will end Friday night.

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The U.S. tractors-for-prisoners team arrived at International Airport at 1:09 p.m. (EST) from Havana today for a brief stop before flying on to Washington.

The team was scheduled to take off at 2:45 p.m. aboard Eastern Air Lines Flight 648.

By LEWIS GULICK
HAVANA (AP) — The U.S. tractors for prisoners team heads for Washington today after hearing Fidel Castro's latest demand—$20 million worth of farmtype tractors in exchange for 1,167 captive invaders.

This amounts to about $24,000 per prisoner.

The unofficial, four-man negotiating panel said it made no commitments to the Cuban prime minister; that it intended to lay the demand before the Tractors For Freedom Committee headed by Eleanor Roosevelt.

Whether the committee, in its drive for public subscriptions, could raise the kind of money involved in Castro's demand was uncertain. Other leaders of the drive, besides Mrs. Roosevelt, are Walter Reuther, head of the United Auto Workers and Dr. Milton Eisenhower.

The campaign for funds results from Castro's offhand offer of May 17.

Castro showed some new stides to his proposal Wednesday during five hours of negotiating sessions with the American team.

He said he would go along with the committee's offer to supply small farming tractors rather than the big construction tractors he originally sought. But he said the large tractors would have $20 million plus transportation costs—so he expected that much money's worth of the smaller machines.

The Cuban leader indicated he would be agreeable to receiving 1,500 tractors one-half the size of the heavy models first demanded.

The monetary value was a stiff price in terms of the committee's earlier thinking. The fund raisers had been talking about raising $2.5 million or so to buy 500 of the small types of tractors which they said should meet Castro's agricultural needs.

Castro also reduced somewhat the number of captives he said he could liberate upon receipt of the tractors. The original figure given the committee was 1,214. Castro said this is now down to 1,167 due to some deaths, special trials he plans for some prisoners and other reasons.

Cuba's boss said he really would prefer to trade freedom of his captives for freedom of 1,200 persons in jail in the United States, Spain and some Latin American countries.

Asked if he had a specific list of the 1,200 prisoners abroad whom he wants liberated, Castro replied he had "no list, but we know there are many prisoners there because they are patriots."

As for the tractor deal, he said: "It's going well. It all depends on them (the American Committee) now."

Warren Board Opposes Bonds

WARREN, Ark. (AP) — The Warren School Board voted Wednesday night to oppose a proposed $60 million dollar state bond issue after being warned that it might force a tax increase.

Supt. P. H. Herrin said that if the bond issue passed in a special election June 27, the Warren district might need an additional two mills of tax to compensate for revenue he said might be lost.

Gov. Orval E. Faubus, who backed the bond issue, has said school funds won't be affected, but opponents claim that the bond issue would cut into school money.

Charged in Fraudulent Stock Deal

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Arnold E. Edens of Paragould, already under sentence in a state court, faces trial on federal charges of using the mails in fraudulent stock deals involving an estimated $1.5 million.

A federal grand jury for the Eastern District of Arkansas returned a 12-count indictment against the 38-year-old Edens Wednesday, charging that since 1956 he had solicited orders for stock and issued counterfeit certificates to some customers after pocketing part of the money.

U.S. Dist. Atty. Osro Cobb said the transactions may have netted Edens more than $1.5 million.

The 10-page indictment accused Edens of making "false promises and untrue statements" to investors.

A Greene Circuit Court jury recently found Edens guilty of false pretense and overdraw and he was sentenced to an 11-year prison term. He is free on $40,000 bond pending an appeal of that sentence to the Arkansas Supreme Court.

Cobb said conviction on the federal charges would carry a maximum penalty of 10 years in prison or a $10,000 fine.

Gas Hearing Slated for Friday

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A Public Service Commission hearing on an Arkansas Louisiana Gas Co. rate increase resumes Friday, but there is still no indication that Little Rock will join other cities protesting the boost.

The Little Rock City Manager Board, which once declined to take part in the dispute, indicated Wednesday that it might give the matter further consideration later.

James Spencer of El Dorado and George Holmes of Pine Bluff, spokesmen for a group of cities protesting the 70c-per-month increase which went into effect April 1, reminded the board that Little Rock residents would pay a god share of the total $1.2 million annual increase.

"We'd like Little Rock to join hands with us and find out for sure whether Arkla is entitled to a rate increase at this time," Spencer said.

The increase would cost Arkla customers in Little Rock about $435,000 a year, Spencer said.

Cities opposed to the increase want Little Rock to help pay, the cost of hiring a rate expert to aid in the battle. The expert, Melwood W. Van Scoyoc of Washington, is scheduled to begin cross examination of Arkla witnesses when the hearing resumes. The gas company witnesses had testified at earlier hearing sessions.

Scientists Subpoenaed by Probers

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Committee on Un-American Activities, getting the jump on another House group, today subpoenaed officials of the National Science Foundation for questioning of award of a fellowship to a student convicted of contempt of Congress.

The action left the House Space Committee, which had invited foundation officials to appear before it this morning, cooling its heels without any witnesses.

Chairman Overton Brooks, D-La., of the Space Committee said Dr. Alan T. Waterman, director of the foundation, had telephoned him to say he had been subpoenaed by the Committee on un-American Activities.

"I told him to respond to the subpoena and to come here when he was finished," Brooks told his committee.

The graduate student involved, Edward Yellin, was questioned by a subcommittee on Un-American Activities in 1958 in Gary, Ind. He refused to answer when asked whether he was a Communist.

He was cited and in 1960 was convicted of contempt of Congress. The case is now on appeal to the Supreme Court.

In March, 1961, the National Science Foundation awarded a $3,800 fellowship from government funds for Yellin to pursue studies at the University of Illinois.

Rep. Richard L. Roudsbusch, R-Ind., a member of the Space Committee, asked Brooks to investigate the award.

Industrial Production Increases

WASHINGTON (AP) — Industrial production increased by another 3 per cent in May and further gains in the important steel and auto industries were forecast for June, the government reported today.

Output of mines, factories and utilities, as measured by the Federal Reserve Board's industrial production index, increased in May to a level 8 per cent higher than the 1957 average.

The May index figure of 108 compared with an April level of 105 and a recession low of 102 in the first three months of 1961.

Faubus Lines Up Municipal League Aid

By JOHN R. STARR

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Executive Committee of the Arkansas Municipal League met today with Gov. Orval E. Faubus and then voted to support his $60 million bond proposal.

League President Hugh Brewer of Fort Smith said Faubus assured the committee that the cities would get $400,000 a year which was included in the $14.5 omnibus law which the Arkansas Supreme Court nullified. Apparently this would have to be taken care of in an expected special legislative session.

Brewer said the committee vote, taken in the absence of Faubus, was unanimous.

Meanwhile, the man who heads both the Arkansas Farm Bureau Federation and the campaign for the bond plan, said the farm organization supports the bond program "as a progressive step for the state and as a response to many of its official policies."

Head Places Bureau as for Bonds

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Farm Bureau Federation is supporting Gov. Orval E. Faubus' $60 million bond plan "as a progressive step for the state and as a response to many of its official policies," its president said today.

The president, Harold F. Ohlendorf of Osceola, also is chairman of the Arkansas Building Program Committee which is spearheading the organized support for the state construction program.

A prepared statement by Ohlendorf on federation stationery said resolutions adopted at last fall's convention and before place the organization clearly in favor of the bond program.

At least one county Farm Bureau—the Grant County unit—has gone on record against the proposal. Some other individual bureaus have favored it.

Bulletin

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Scores of screaming Cubans chased Miami real estate man Douglas Voorhees through the Miami airport terminal today after he made a futile attempt to have members of the tractors-for-freedom negotiating team arrested.

Voorhees laid hands on the negotiators and appealed frantically to Dade County (Miami) deputy sheriffs to arrest them. The deputies, apparently acting under orders, stood by silently. Then Voorhees began shouting for "some citizen to call the U.S. marshal. Please don't let them get away."

After two or three minutes, an officer told the deputies to separate Voorhees from the negotiators.

Reaffirms Red Position on Berlin

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Khrushchev said tonight that "a peace settlement in Europe must be accomplished this year."

The Soviet premier made this statement in reaffirming his position on Germany and Berlin.

He spoke to the Soviet people, reporting on his Vienna talks with President Kennedy.

Khrushchev has called for a peace conference of all the World War II allies on reunifying Germany. In the meanwhile, he wants West Germany and Communist East Germany to negotiate a settlement, if they can, within six months. This would also include the future of Communist-surrounded West Berlin.

Khrushchev said his meeting with President Kennedy in Vienna was worthwhile.

"In addition," he said, "it had to be held."

He repented his demand for combining negotiations on a nuclear test ban with talks on general disarmament.

The Soviet leader made his report in an unusual televised and broadcast "fireside chat," similar in format to the type sometimes used by Western leaders. Loudspeakers in the squares of many Soviet cities carried the message.

Khrushchev said the Vienna meeting "provided a good opportunity for a first personal contact and an exchange of opinion."

He said he gained the impression that Kennedy understood the grave responsibilities shouldered by the two great powers—the United States and the Soviet Union. He then expressed hope Soviet-American relations eventually would improve.

President Kennedy made a report on the Vienna talks in a nationwide radio-TV speech June 6. He described his meeting with Khrushchev as useful although producing a "somber mood." The President told the American people then Laos offered the most immediate prospect of agreement with the Soviet Union. As for the long view, he said: "At least the chances of a dangerous misjudgment on either side should now be less."

Khrushchev denied his proposal to convert Berlin into a "free" demilitarized city would deprive the Western powers of their rights of access to the city.

Turning to disarmament, he said the question has "become ripe or even overripe, and insistently calls for a solution." He again accused the West of insincerity in disarmament negotiations that have been held during the past five years in various commissions and subcommittees.

"The Western powers were plainly not prepared for serious negotiations, did not want and to be frank, do not want, disarmament to this day."

Says Women Should Spoil Husbands

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Ireland's leading actress suggested today
U.S. wives would enjoy life more if they spent more time spoiling their husbands instead of nagging them—or competing with them.

"The Irish woman takes it for granted that it's a man's world," said Siobhan McKenna, who has red hair, green eyes—and a serene temper.

"When I married, my grandmother told me, 'Marriage is a partnership. As in all partnerships, sometimes one must give in —and it might as well be the woman.'

"Irish women do—and I think they're the happier for it."
Ireland has one of the world's lowest divorce rates, and Miss McKenna believes, one reason is the people there have a more realistic idea about the role of the sexes.

"They set out with the idea that men and women are incompatible," she said, "but through love and affection they accept this incompatibility and make the best of it."

"So the first time they disagree, they don't rush off to a divorce court. They accept the fact they are different. They expect to disagree."

"What is the biggest mistake US wives make?"
"It's their not accepting a man as he is," said Siobhan firmly.
"That is a mistake."

"You can't really change people, and you shouldn't really want to. Advice is one thing. But nagging merely drives a man to be more what he is."

"Sometimes, too, women here are too ambitious for their husbands. They drive them to work to hard. Then, when they've made all this money, it's too late for love."

"Mind you, I think Irish husbands might work a little harder, but they work to live, not live-towork."

Miss McKenna is married to actor Dennis O'Dea and has a 12-year-old son. Although she has an outside career herself, she feels
"the best life for a woman really"
is one in which she concentrates

Tiny Plant May Power Space Trips

By RALPH DIGHTON

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Meet
the electric rocket—a tiny power plant that some day may drive space ships of almost any size to the moon and the planets.

The electric rocket probably will be the final and critical stage of the huge projectiles President Kennedy has ordered developed to take men to the moon and back in this decade.

Eight companies and two government agencies gave technical papers on electric rockets Tuesday at one of the nation's top scientific conventions—the annual joint meeting of the Institute of Aerospace Sciences and the American Rocket Society.

Consensus of the papers is that the electric rocket works—under laboratory conditions.

By the time large clusters of present-day intercontinental missiles are ready to boost big space ships beyond earth's gravitational pull—possibly in three to five years—electric rockets should be far enough advanced to take over the job of propulsion in space.

Capt. Richard Hayes, an Air Force research expert assigned to the National Aeronautics and Space Administration in Washington, said in an interview:

"This is an important field where the United States can forge ahead of Russia in the space race."

Neither the Soviet Union nor the United States has yet tested an electric rocket in space, but both are rushing research programs.
Hayes said the U.S.S.R. plans a test flight later this year; America's target date is sometime next year.

What's so special about electrical rockets?

In the language of the average motorist, they are designed to give more miles per gallon and much higher speed. But these are only good for cruising in high gear. They don't have enough power for the fast takeoff necessary to get into space.

Electric rockets are comparatively small—about the size of a garbage can. Chemically fueled Atlas rockets tower 65 feet into the air.

Electric rockets have a very small wallop—a fraction of a pound of thrust compared with the 360,000-pound thrust of an Atlas.

They make up for this, however, by running continuously for hundreds of hours.

Appeals Filed

ATLANTA (AP)—Forty Negroes rejected for high school desegregation have filed appeals contending they were turned down solely on the basis of race.

Lawyers for the pupils filed identical statements an hour before the deadline yesterday. The other 84 Negroes rejected did not appeal the decision of Atlanta School Supt. John Letson.

Ten Negroes have been approved for admittance in September to the 11th or 12th grades of four previously all-white high schools.

The Atlanta Board of Education will hear the appeals. No hearing date has been set.

Miss McKenna recently completed the role of the Virgini Mary in MGM's $10-million-plus film,
"King of Kings." She is excited over the prospect of starring in "Playboy of the Western World," the first movie in many

In early stages of preparation for flight to moon, United States has been developing Saturn rocket, shown in Huntsville, Ala., workshop of NASA. Size is indicated by Redstone rocket, partially assembled, lying next to it. Redstone was booster for astronaut Shepard's flight. Saturn may power manned orbiting laboratory or circumlunar shot.

Three proposed versions of Saturn: C-1 will orbit three men around the earth. It is 180 feet tall. C-2, 209 feet tall, will orbit 22 tons, land 1½ tons on moon or put instruments on Mars or Venus. C-3 is expected to be able to orbit 50 tons or send 12 tons on one-way trip to Mars.

Direct line leads from Saturn to Nova. For moon trip, Saturn C-3 could land three-man crew. Nova could do the same, carrying 20 tons of supplies. With nuclear third stage, it could go to Mars and return. Nova's booster will be eight Saturn engines totaling 12 million pounds thrust.

Lauren Bacall, widow of Humphrey Bogart, and actor Jason Robards Jr., expect to be married here Friday, Robards' manager said today.

"The wedding was planned for today but Miss Bacall and Robards were turned down by the city registrar because they lacked some legal documents," manager
Peter Witte said.

He added the couple engaged a Vienna lawyer to help them clear up the matter and get the papers here in time so they can be married Friday morning. Witte said the papers required included a certificate of Bogart's death and a divorce certificate for Robards.

Miss Bacall is 37, Chicago-born Robards is 39, he has been divorced twice.

Postal Supervisors Open Conference

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP)—
The annual meeting of the Arkansas branch of the National Association of Postal Supervisors opens here today, with Rep. Catherine Norrell, Dark., scheduled to attend the conference.

Mrs. Norrell is a member of the House Postoffice and Civil Service Committee.

The meeting will end Saturday following the election of officers.

action. Affirmative action by judicial, legislative and executive means is indispensable. This is still a nation of law. If we colored people hold the white people of the South to law and the constitution, we can not sneer among ourselves at the law and the legal processes.

"By the same token, just because the NAACP does not agree down to the smallest detail with the plans and procedures of other organization is no reason for us to throw roadblocks in their way.

"For example, we believe the way to test a law is to set up a test case, carry it through the courts and get a determination.
We do not believe you can test a law and get it thrown out by staying in jail. After one spends 30 or 60 or 90 days in jail, the law is still on the statute books and still constitutes a support for segregation."

"But we of the NAACP do not sneer at those who choose to stay in jail, for they are thus registering a personal and powerful moral protest against injustice."

Later in the prepared text of his speech Wilkins said:

"The lesson here is that all methods should be used and that history and experience should not be ignored. In baseball sometimes a bunt does the job and sometimes a home run."

Charges Viet Nam Troops in Laos Fighting

By GEORGE SYVERTSEN

GENEVA (AP)—U. S. Ambassador W. Averell Harriman today charged that two companies of troops from Communist North Viet Nam took part in the successful attack on Padong in Laos.

In a speech at the international conference on Laos Harriman said nothing about today's attacks by pro-Communist rebel forces in Laos, which military men judged more important than the attack on Padong on June 7. The West boycotted the conference five days because of its anger about Padong.

The latest attacks took two villages near the narrow waist of Laos and threatened to split the forces of the royal Laotian government into two segments.

Although a spokesman for Harriman minimized the importance of these attacks, military men considered them even more flagrant violations of the cease-fire.
The Communists have not even complained that it was provoked by supply flights of U. S. planes over their territory, as they did at Padong.

Harriman said:
"The Soviet Union has been almost daily supplying the forces of the rebels, through Xiang Khou-ang by an airlift which originates in North Viet Nam."

Harriman's speech was a reply to Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko, who blamed the United States and pro-Western troops for earlier violations of the Laotian cease-fire proclaimed last month.

Harriman also answered Soviet charges that the United States was deliberately holding up progress of the 14-nation conference.

He said the delay was caused by Gromyko's refusal to send adequate instructions to the International Control Commission and by the refusal of the contending factions in Laos to cooperate with the commission which supervises troops in Laos trying to control the cease-fire.

Western delegations here have accused the Communists of using the plenary sessions, attended by all the conference delegations, as a sounding board for propaganda.

Harriman said small working groups would permit careful discussion of rival proposals. "We are fully prepared to enter into detailed drafting work on a paragraph-by-paragraph, line-by-line, word-by-word basis," he said.

shipyard. During the 16th Century wars, the shipyard turned out a galley a day.

Riders Meet No Incidents in Carolina

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The first of three Florida-bound "Freedom Rider" groups arrived at Jacksonville early today and found conditions generally satisfactory.

The contingent of four Jewish rabbits, eight white Protestant ministers and six Negro ministers made a night trip from Sumter,
S.C., where they tested South Carolina's citadel of race separation without serious incident.

"All in all everything was satisfactory in Jacksonville," said the Rev. Perry A. Smith III, of North Brentwood, Md., Negro chairman of the group.

Another group of seven left Charleston, S.C., quietly en route to Savannah, Ga., and Jacksonville, with the third group—also numbering seven—following within a couple of hours over the same route.

The riders were refused restaurant service in two small South Carolina towns Wednesday but encountered no difficulty in historic Charleston, one of the Deep South's most conservative cities.

Smith, a Baptist minister, said the riders did find "colored" and "white" signs on rest rooms at the Jacksonville bus station but all went into the white room without any trouble.

Police and plainclothes officers were at the station.

In a brief Georgia test, the 18 used the same rest rooms and ate at the same snack bar without interference in Savannah where in recent months there have been sporadic racial clashes.
A white waitress served the group at the snack bar.

Joining the segregation-testing expedition were two Negro men, two Negro women and a white woman from the Daytona Beach, Fla., area. Their spokesman, the Rev. E. T. Tillman of Daytona Beach, said they will continue with the others to Tallahassee, then branch out to test segregation in south Georgia. He was unable at the moment to give the Georgia itinerary.

Tillman said he had been designated by the Florida branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People to make several fact-finding trips and report to the Interstate Commerce Commission and other agencies on interstate travel facilities.

The 18 ministers are expected to fly back to New York later in the day from Tallahassee, the Florida capital.

The two parties of seven each spent Wednesday night in Charleston. Their plans were to spend Thursday night in Jacksonville, then perhaps combine for an extended ride in Florida, probably to Tampa.

The riders left Washington by Greyhound bus to make the first such test of Florida's segregation practices.

Two buses brought 14 of the riders to Charleston from Wilmington, N.C. A third bus carried the clergymen from Raleigh, N.C., to Sumter, where they halted for a church service. The clergymen were refused lunch counter service at a motel cafe on the outskirts of Sumter. They later ate at a Negro cafe.

The first group of riders arriving from Wilmington reported no difficulty en route. The second group of seven reported two members ran into trouble at Conway, S.C.

Mrs. Dupree C. White, 40, a Negro from New York City, said a white man walked behind the depot lunch counter, grabbed a knife, and ordered her and a companion to leave. She said a waitress refused them service.
Laura Randall, 25, a New York white woman making her first freedom ride, said the man gestured with the knife but she did not view his action as a threat to attack them.

Touring Boys Find Trouble in Mexico

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A truck wreck and a misunderstanding over the ownership of the vehicle has delayed a South American good will tour of four Little Rock Teenagers.

The accident occurred when the truck skidded off a road near Chilpancingo, Mexico. None of the youths was hurt.

That apparently was Friday night, Delbert A. Schmand Sr., father of one of the boys, said Wednesday. He said his son notified him of the difficulty in a telephone call, but said the matter had been cleared up and the tour planned to resume their trip to Bolivia this weekend after a lay-over for repairs at Mexico City.

Their next planned stop is Guatemala City.

The boys, in addition to Schmand, are Ted A. Reutz Jr., Norvell N. Plowman Jr. and Fernando Salazar.

Salazar's parents live at La Paz, Bolivia, but the teen-agers attended high school in Little Rock, where he graduated last month.

Schmand said the boys were detained by police at a Chilpancingo hotel for three nights after the accident while an investigation of the truck title was made. The truck serial number, rather than the motor number, was listed on the title papers. Authorities thought the motor number should have been on the document. But the dispute was settled and the boys released.

Temper Tradition With a Touch of Modernity

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen: Our daughter is 16 and never had a date. Her father won't allow her to go out with boys until she is 17, nor will he permit her to wear lipstick or high heels. Naturally, she objects but it doesn't do her much good. The youngsters of today grow up so fast. I was 17 before I went to my first dance then one of the boys whose mother sang with my aunt in church came and pleaded for me to be allowed to go. She said yes.

We never heard the word teenager like we do today. Now it's almost like a curse. I agree with you about cars. If teenagers had to buy their own, there would be far less trouble. I don't advocate going back to the old days but they did have a certain merit. We had more time to enjoy things and to appreciate each other. Heavens, I am only 46!

Today, kids know more than they ever thought of. Wait a minute. That sounds familiar. I reacted the same way as a kid so it must be a typical teen-age point of view. —Just a Mother

Dear Just A Mother: The teen-age problem is due mostly to the dislocation of wars and threat of war plus overprosperity. The deep roots of home are now in shallow soil. The kids lack security. I appreciate your husband's desire to protect his daughter as long as possible from life. But don't let him overdo it or she may resent being an old-fashioned girl in a new-fashioned world. Give her a chance to try her wings in mixed company at home with youngsters her own age. I've seen a charming shade of light pink lipstick that's perfect for 16-year-old girls. There's no harm in her wearing that or, for that matter, baby high-heels. Don't give her an inferiority complex by forcing her to be too difficult.

Dear Helen: I am a young high school teacher about to marry. There is a group in my school that constantly pesters me, even meddling in my personal affairs. My future husband disapproves of this group but I sympathize with them. This has provoked many arguments and we are on the verge of a break-up. How can I patch things up with my husband and not hurt the feelings of the group? —A. R.

Dear A. R.: Who comes first in your heart — this meddlesome group or your husband — to be? Make up your mind. There is too much shilly-shallying and too little backbone in our present-day philosophy of life. We should make a choice and stand by it. There can be real danger in being able to see the two sides of a question. It could leave you straddling the fence, in a capable of positive thought or action. If your husband-to-be doesn't come first, call off the marriage before it's too late.

Poultry Best Weekend Meat Buy

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Roast beef and pork dominate supermarket advertisements again this week.

Poultry prices are so low production is turning downward. This eventually will mean smaller supply and higher prices.

Pork bargains this week are mostly smoked hams, although rib end pork loins and sausage are featured in the Midwest and smoked picnic hams in the Northeast.

In beef it's mostly sirloin, or porterhouse, steaks and rib roast. Fresh fruits and vegetables are seasonally plentiful now, although produce men report the weather has been so hot in some sections that the condition of highly perishable items such as asparagus, lettuce and strawberries, has been affected.

Allowing for a careful shopper check of condition, all are on this week's best buy list. Other vegetables with this rating are collards, green onions, radishes, rhubarb, spinach and parsley. Good buys include beets, cabbage, carrots, celery, corn, mushrooms, onions, potatoes and tomatoes.

Joining strawberries as outstanding fruit buys are oranges, grapefruit, bananas and mangoes. Good buys include watermelons, blueberries, cantaloupes, honeydew melons, peaches and lemons.

Replacement for Perry Is Diverting

By CYNTHIA LOWRY AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—One thing you can say for Perry Como's summer replacement: It sure is a change from the usual Wednesday night variety hour on NBC.

Wednesday night's premier program of "Mystery Theater" was, in fact, a neat and meticulous demonstration of a clever and comparatively non-violent way to rob a bank.

Perry's substitutes are British films edited down to an hour's length.

Judging from the first film sample, this promises to be a rather diverting series. And although most English movies we see on TV look as though they were made on a dark night in an unlighted cellar, this one was quite easy to follow without eye-strain.

The syndicated late-evening "PM" series starring Mike Wallace, designed to provide some fresh competition for late movies and Jack Paar Show, got off to

Asks Jurisdiction in Labor Dispute

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—It is now up to Garland Chancellor Sam W. Garrett to determine whether he has jurisdiction in a Hot Springs labor dispute.

The Arkansas Supreme Court met in special session Tuesday and dissolved an injunction preventing Garrett from taking further action in the case.

Associate Justice Jim Johnson issued the injunction last week at the request of Local 406 of the International Hod Carriers' Building and Common Laborers Union.

A rather limping start this week, ABC, reported to be interested in picking up the series for network come fall, said they had turned the taped series down.

After weeks of thought, CBS has finally come up with a title for the Gertrude Berg comedy series which will make its debut this fall: "Mrs. G. Goes to College." The series started out as "Mother Was a Freshman," but later has been identified by the name which the public will undoubtedly use anyway, The Gertrude Berg Show.

NBC will run a repeat broadcast of "The Accomplish," an hour long dramatic show next Monday night (10-11), mostly because of its timely theme. It was based on the capture of Adolf Eichmann and was shown originally last August as one of the "Moment of Fear" summer replacement shows.

Heat Unbearable for Burglary

CLEARWATER, Fla. (AP) — The recent heat wave apparently became unbearable for one burglar.

Police reported someone broke into the Acme Co. Tuesday and stole one air conditioner with all attachments.

of America.

The union said its picketing of a Hot Springs construction project was peaceful and maintained that the matter was a case for the federal courts and not state courts.

Collie, Inc., the contractor on the project, had asked Garrett for an anti-picketing injunction.

As a result of the Supreme Court decision, Garrett is now free to hear the case if he finds that he has jurisdiction.

Six of the seven justices were present for the session.

Yankees Help Detroit Gain Tie for Lead

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Detroit Tigers, with Frank Lary becoming the first pitcher to win 10 in the majors this season, beat Boston 4-2 Wednesday and gained a tie for first place with Cleveland in the American League race when the New York Yankees beat the Indians 11-5.

Whitely Ford, with relief help by Luis Arroyo, also won his 10th for the third place Yankees, who are one game behind.

Washington beat Baltimore 5-1, Kansas City tagged Minnesota 9-2 and the Chicago White Sox ran up a six-game streak with a 4-1 and 9-8 two-night doubleheader sweep over the Los Angeles Angels.

In the National League, the Los Angeles Dodgers jumped back into first place by a halfgame by whipping the Chicago Cubs 7-0. Pittsburgh dropped Cincinnati 5-4, and San Francisco defeated Milwaukee 11-2. The St. Louis-Philadelphia game was rained out.

A two-run triple by Billy Bruton wrapped it up for the Tigers as they scored three in the fourth inning against the Red Sox and later Billy Muffett (2-6). Lary (10-3), had a three-hit shutout until the eighth, when Boston scored on four singles and a sacrifice fly by Frank Malzone.

Roger Maris and Bobby Richardson drove in six runs between them for the Yankees. Maris brought them from behind with a two-run homer in the fourth off loser Gary Bell (4-6), and Richardson capped a four-run seventh inning with a three-run homer off reliever Johnny Antonelli.

Ford gave up eight hits, one a solo homer by Chuck Essegian. Arroyo then mopped up with two innings of hitless relief.

A five-run second inning, triggered by Gene Green's two-run homer, did it for the Senators as Dick Donovan (3-5) won his third in a row with a six-hitter. Steve Barber (7-5) was the loser.

Kansas City was shut out on two hits for 7 1/3 innings by Camilo Pascual, but broke loose for eight runs in the eighth. Jerry Walker (3-3) won it in relief. Pascual was the loser.

Ray Herbert and Don Larsen, two right-handers acquired from Kansas City Saturday, wrapped up the White Sox's sweep. Herb (4-6), won the opener with a three-hitter.

Johnny James (0-2) was the loser.

Larsen then saved the second game for Frank Baumann (5-6) after the Angels broke lose for five runs in the eighth inning and another in the ninth on Steve Bilko's homer. The Sox tagged loser Rom Melder (2-5) for seven runs in the first inning.

Deals Have Managers Up at Night

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

This is the night the general managers of big league baseball clubs sit up late, waiting for the phone to ring.

At midnight, local time, June 15, the trading deadline goes into effect. After that hour no player can be traded from one major league club to another without waivers. The rule remains in effect until the end of the season.

In case you are weak on baseball's legal terminology, waivers are the process by which each club in the league gets a chance to grab a certain player for $20,000. The teams lowest in the standings get first crack and so on up.

New York turned to its old bud-die in Kansas City for pitching help Wednesday, completing the 17th deal between the two clubs, involving 64 players, since 1955. Although owner Chuck Finley of the A's recently said no more trades with the Yanks, his general manager, Frank Lane, said he had Finley's approval.

The acquisition of Bud Daley, a left-handed starting pitcher, to team with Whitey Ford figures to strengthen the Yanks, especially at the stadium where southpaws usually are more effective than righties. To get Daley, New York sent pitcher Art Ditmar and infielder Deron Johnson to the A's.

The Yanks also made another move, acquiring Billy Gardner, veteran infielder, from the Minnesota Twins for Danny McDevitt, left-handed pitcher.

Duck Hunting Violators Face Charges

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Twenty Arkansans arrested in connection with alleged market hunting of wild ducks face now—and stiffer—federal charges of game violations.

They were indicted Wednesday by a federal grand jury for the Eastern District of Arkansas for alleged sales of wild ducks after Sept. 8, 1960. They were among 52 persons arrested in Arkansas May 5 on misdemeanor charges in connection with duck sales in a five-state federal crackdown.

Sale of migratory waterfowl became a felony on Sept. 8, 1960, and the new charges are felony violations.

Named in the indictments for more than one alleged sale were: W. L. Riley, Weiner; Rex Leach and Tony Zerlingo, Stuttgart; Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Bradley, Altheimer and Bobby Joe Worring and Ralph Vickers, Stuttgart.

Accused of single violations were: William T. Riley, Weiner; Charles Johnson, Humphrey; A. W. Stephens and Dale Wilson, Lodge Corner; Frederick Rock, Stuttgart; Ivy L. Grissom and Mrs. Robert Rodgers, Marked Tree; Rice A. Johnson and Bill Samples, Manila; James Sims and Harold Sommers, Weiner; B. R. (Jack) Wages, Stuttgart; and William Gill, DeWitt.

Rabies Quarantine in Carroll Co.

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Carroll County was placed under a 10-day rabies quarantine after three dogs and a fox were found to be suffering from the disease, Dr. J. T. Herron, State Health Officer, said Wednesday. All dogs in the county will be vaccinated and a special effort will be made to destroy wild foxes, Herron said.

Chattanooga's frisky Lookouts, now making runaway gestures, shaded Birmingham 43 and padded their league lead to four games over the Barons.

Sam Snead Favorite in U.S. Open

By JERRY LISKA
Associated Press Sports Writer

BIRMINGHAM, Mich. (AP)—What witch's brew does Oakland Hills' boiling cauldron hold for Sam Snead, the sentimental favorite in the 61st U.S. Open Golf Tournament which opens today?

Snead, 49, among an eager field of 130, was making his 21st U.S. Open start in quest of his first triumph in a heartbreak trail of near-misses since his first try 24 years ago, also over the same treacherous Oakland Hills Course.

Snead has to beat defending champion Arnold Palmer, leading PGA money-winner Gary Player, four-time Open champion Ben Hogan—to mention a few—but most of all he has to whip the Open whammy against himself.

"The irrepressible Snead, at the moment shouting some of the finest golf of his picturesque career disclaimed any jitters entering the 72-hole medal play event concluding with a double 18-hole round Saturday.

Palmer was rated a 5-1 favorite to win. South Africa's Gary Player, who dethroned Palmer as Master's champ was second betting choice at 6-1.

"You all don't think I'm going to win it," grinned Snead. "I don't think so either. So if things go right, I'll surprise everybody, including myself."

"I'll take four 71's and go fishing." That meant Snead figured a 284 would take the Open title won last year by Palmer with 280 at Denver's Cherry Hills course. Par for Oakland Hills is 35-35—70, a four-round total of 280.

Palmer's only pre-battle statement was: "Let's go—at least 10 players can win this and I think 230 will take it."

Snead has won the last three tournaments he has played—the Las Vegas Tournament of Champions, the Sam Snead Festival and the International Canada Cup. Only once in his last 12 rounds has Slammin Sammy been over 70.

Nixons Moving to California

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Richard M. Nixon family is moving from Washington, D.C., to Los Angeles today.

The 1960 Republican presidential candidate, his wife Patricia, and teen-age daughters Julie and Tricia, are due at Los Angeles International Airport by jetliner this evening.

With them will be Checkers, their cocker spaniel, and two cats. The Nixons have rented film producer Walter Wanger's Brentwood District home pending construction of a new one of their own in Beverly Hills.

Mrs. Nixon and the children remained in the East until the girls finished out the school year. Nixon had been staying in a hotel while here.

Mock Attacks Planned by SAC
MCALISTER, Okla. (AP)—The Air Force's Strategic Air Command has scheduled low level mock bombing attacks against train targets moving in Oklahoma, Texas, Arkansas and Louisiana.

The practice runs by B47s, B52s and B58 Hustler jets are to run from June 19 through July 1. The targets will be trains manned by Air Force personnel and each will be made up of 10 cars.

Electronic equipment on the trains will score the accuracy of the attackers and will jam aircraft radar equipment. Plane crews will use electronic counter measures to overcome the jamming.

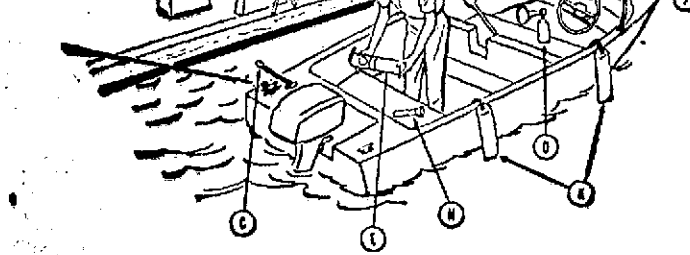

Low level approaches, beginning at about 2,000 feet, will start in this eastern Oklahoma area. High altitude approaches will start at 30,000 to 40,000 feet, the air force said.

Populated areas will be avoided. The route and target areas were coordinated with the Federal Aviation Agency.

The trains will move from this area to five miles southeast of Bastrop, La. They will be in the area of Paris, Tex., and Murfreesboro, and Rison, Ark.

Dodgers Beat Cubs, Regain National Lead.

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Los Angeles Dodgers are back on top in the National League race, gaining a halfgame edge by beating the Chicago Cubs 7-0 Wednesday night. Pittsburgh dropped Cincinnati 5-4, and San Francisco tied the Reds for second place with an 11-2 job on Milwaukee.

The St. Louis Philadelphia game was rained out.

In the American League, it's a three-way fight. Detroit beat Boston 4-2 and moved into a first place tie with Cleveland when the New York Yankees roughed up the Indians 11-5. The third place Yanks are only one game behind. Fourth place Baltimore, eight games back, lost 5-1 to Washington; Kansas City rocked Minnesota 9-2 and the Chicago White Sox swept a twilight twinbill from the Los Angeles Angels 4-1 and 9-8.

The Dodgers knocked off the Cubs behind the fivehit pitching of Don Drysdale (5-3). It was his first shutout of the season. Backed by four double plays, Drysdale didn't allow a runner past first. He walked but two and struck out seven.

Drysdale also belted a homer. So did Tommy Davis, who drove in three runs. He brought in one in the first with a sacrifice fly, and the Dodgers then chased loser Don Cardwell (5-3) with three runs in the second, two unearned.

Dick Stuart did it for the Pirates. He drove in four runs with a single, triple and homer, hitting the Reds with a two-run triple in the ninth off losing reliever Jim Brosnan (2-2). The Reds gained 32 and 43 leads against Bob Friend and Elroy Face before Bobby Shantz (3-1) took the decision with one hitless inning of relief.

The Giants, with a sevenrun seventh inning, beat Warren Spahn (7-7), the southpaw who has beaten them twice. Harvey Kuenn opened the big seventh with a double and closed it with a two-run triple. Willie Mays and Ed Bailey hit home runs for the Giants, with Bailey rapping two, and each drove in three runs. Juan Marichal, beating the Braves for the second time, collected a 33 record with a five hitter, giving up fifthinning homers by Frank Thomas and Torre.

Jr. Legion Makes It 5 in a Row

Last night the North Little Rock Dance team became the 5th victim of the Hope Junior Legion nine by 6 to 0 score.

Hope started in the second inning, tallying three times when Robinson and Churchwell singled. Ward walked and David Burke sent them home with a smashing double. Murphy scored in the third and singles by Joe Duke, Roberts and Camp ended the scoring for Hope.

David Burke was the winning hurler, giving up only one hit and struck out seven.

Thursday games: Hope 1 vs. Nashville 4, here Hope 2 vs. Nashville 3, here.

Friday games: Braves vs. Giants, Pop Kola vs. Lions, CBC vs. Owens, Coleman vs. Midwest.

PSC to Rule on Water Request

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas Public Service Commission meets this afternoon to hear a request of General Waterworks Corp. that it be allowed to borrow $12 million.

No protests have been filed. Approval of such applications customarily is routine.

General Waterworks would use $9.3 million of the 5½ per cent sinking undebentures to pay off existing indebtedness it would use the remainder for construction and "general corporate purposes." The application doesn't detail construction.

The company owns water distribution systems in Pine Bluff, Batesville, England, Fordyce, Hamburg, Morrilton, Rison and Russellville.

Funny Things Happen to Mr. Champion

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Funny thing happened to Gower Champion the other night at a big Hollywood party.

"He was lionized and sought after," reports Marge Champion, "and I enjoyed it immensely. So did he."

While the Champions have always been popular with the Hollywood set, they now evoke that unmistakable respect that is accorded success.

Gower's success was known to everyone at the party—directing two smash Broadway hits in a row: "Bye Bye Birdie" and "Carnival." He nearly lost his health doing it.

The Champions were spending a quiet day at their hillside house when I dropped in. Quiet days are the only kind Gower is allowed right now. He is under doctor's orders to relax following his collapse a few weeks ago.

"I had an ulcer," he said, grimacing. "Corny, isn't it?"

Gower had spent 10 intensive weeks getting "Carnival" to New York, then flew to San Francisco to drill the road company of "Bye Bye Birdie." He passed out in the midst of rehearsals. Rest, said the doctor, and resting Gower is.

"I won't go back to work until August, when I start preparing the film version of 'Bye Bye Birdie,'" he said.

Meanwhile he is learning to live with his ulcer. "The doctor said it was only 10 per cent smoking and overwork," Gower

Yanks Acquire Another Hurler

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Yankees acquired southpaw Bud Daley from Kansas City in a trade that sent righthander Art Ditmar and utility infielder Deron Johnson to the Athletics today.

It was the Yankees' second trade of the day. Earlier, they had sent Danny McDevitt, a left-handed relief pitcher, to Minnesota for veteran infielder Billy Gardner.

Newsman Killed in Missouri

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (AP) — T. W. Duval, president of Springfield Newspapers, Inc., was killed shortly before noon in a car-truck accident on U. S. 65, about 25 miles south of here.

First reports were that the accident involved a station wagon, being driven by Duval and a semi-trailer truck.

Injured were two passengers, Richard P. Stahl, 46, Springfield architect, and his son, Charles, 19.

Duval, 67, in addition to heading the newspaper enterprise, was an executive in Radio Station KGBX, KTV, a television station; the Springfield Paper Co., and the Springfield Tablet Co.

explained, "The other 90 per cent is mental, and that is something I've got to work on. I get enveloped in my work, and I can't understand why things go wrong."

Defense Dept May Pay for Road Damage

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two Arkansas lawmakers are considering the possibility of asking Congress to authorize the Defense Department to pay for road damages caused by contractors building big military projects.

Sen. J. W. Fulbright and Rep. Wilbur Mills are seeking some means of getting repairs for roads heavily damaged by construction work on a ring of Titan missile bases being built in central Arkansas.

Fulbright said today he is considering introducing an amendment to the highway bill now pending in the Senate which would authorize the Defense Department to provide funds for such repair work.

Mills said he and Fulbright have had conferences with Air Force and Defense Department

Bids Taken on River Work

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Southeast Construction Co., Inc., of Pine Bluff Tuesday submitted the apparent low bid of $669,702 for Arkansas River revetments and dikes near Little Rock. The project calls for work along a two-mile stretch upstream from where the Maumelle River flows into the Arkansas River and similar work along a one and a half mile section adjoining the Maumelle Ordnance Works.

officials on the matter in an effort to get action.

He said it is his view that the department now has necessary authority and also the money to do the job in Arkansas but that if additional legislation is needed he will support it.

The U. S. public spends more than three million dollars a day for its newspapers.

Shocked at Rebuke of Gen. Walker

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Dale Alford, D-Ark., has inserted remarks in the Congressional Record expressing shock over the Army's rebuke to Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker for labeling some high ranking Democrats as pinks and criticizing segments of the U.S. press, radio and TV industries.

Alford said Gen. Walker has a background of leadership and demonstrated patriotism and was being penalized because he informed American troops of the nature of the enemy, international communism.

Walker was admonished by Gen. Bruce V. Clarke, commander in chief of Army Forces in Europe, for "taking injudicious actions and for making derogatory public statements about prominent Americans while in command of the 24th Infantry Division in Germany

The admonition was announced Monday following an investigation.

The Army's findings said the Troop Information program Walker put into effect was not attributable to any program of the ultra-conservative John Birch Society as was charged.

Alford said he did not know Walker intimately but knew of his fine record in World War II and the Korean War.

Walker commanded troops used at Little Rock, Ark., in 1957-58 to enforce court-ordered public high school integration. At the time he was head of the Arkansas Military District.

The First Arkansas (Confederate) Infantry Regiment, organized before the state officially seceded, attracted considerable attention on its march to Virginia because of the distinguished ancestry of two of its captains: Robert H. Crockett, a grandson of Davy Crockett, and Donaldson McGregory, grandnephew of the wife of Andrew Jackson.

Avoid Upping Acreage for Soybeans

Soybean producers will be required to maintain their 1950-60 average acreage of conserving any idle land on the farm in 1961 in order to be eligible for 1961 price support on their soybean crop, H. B. Gilbert, chairman, Hempstead County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, said today.

Farmers are urged to avoid increasing soybean acreage at the expense of acreage under conservation practices. The requirement under the 1961 soybean price support program, therefore, seeks to insure that any additional soybean production will be on acreage that has been used for crops in abundant supply rather than from land now in conserving uses or idle land.

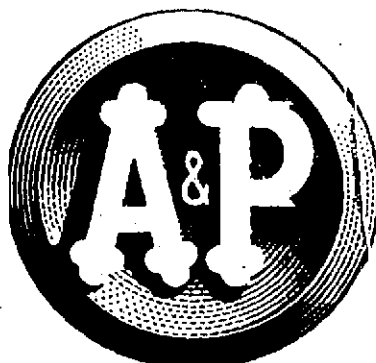

Price support on the 1961 soybean crop has been increased to insure an adequate supply and to help meet anticipated needs for this important oil crop. The national average support price for 1961-crop soybeans will be $2.30 per bushel. The support for the 1960-crop of soybeans was $1.95 per bushel.

While the soybean price support provision and the feed grain program both seek to encourage conservation and reduce the planting of crops which are in abundant supply, the soybean price support operates independently of the feed program. Farmers may not plant soybeans on corn or grain sorghum acreage on which a diversion payment is earned under the 1961 feed grain program. Likewise, they may qualify for price support on their 1961 soybean crop by meeting the price support conditions of eligibility and without participating in the 1961 feed grain program.

"Show Off" Skillet Sweet Sauces

Sweet sauces add zip to the simple ice-cream desserts of summer. Here is a brand-new quick method to make them, right in front of guests, if you like.

Speedy Chocolate-Nut Sauce, for instance, derives from semi-sweet chocolate morsels, the same famous nuggets that go into Toll House Cookies. Because of their diminutive size, the semi-sweet chocolate morsels melt in a jiffy, and can be used in a variety of baked goods, confections, and frostings.

The new method for making dessert sauces calls for an electric buffet fry pan. The electric fry pan is preheated to 300°F., then the temperature control is turned to "off" to make the sauce.

Once the sauce is made, you'll find many imaginative uses for it. Speedy Chocolate-Nut Sauce adds its luscious, delectable flavor, for instance, to sundaes. They can be topped with whipped cream, mint bonbons, a dollop of marshmallow, or a maraschino cherry, to name a few variations. The sauce goes equally well on sponge cake, angel cake, or any other plain cake. It also glamorizes vanilla, tapioca and chocolate puddings.

During the hot weather, when the living is easy, dessert sauces made in the electric buffet fry pan are simple, convenient... and delicious.

Speedy Chocolate-Nut Sauce
1 6-ounce package (1 cup) semi-sweet chocolate morsels
1/4 cup butter or margarine
1 cup coarsely chopped nuts

Preheat electric fry pan to 300°F. Turn temperature control to OFF. Melt butter in fry pan. Add semi-sweet chocolate morsels and nuts; stir until chocolate is melted. Serve warm over ice cream or cake. Yield: 1 1/4 cups.

Dessert From The Freezer

The time to make use of your home freezer more than ever is when the weather turns hot. Summertime is also a good time to cut down on elaborate preparation for entertaining guests. For instance, a simple dessert luncheon before the afternoon of cards or chatter (or both) is a delightful and well accepted idea.

To use your freezer for such an occasion, prepare a dessert such as Fruit Pastry Squares on a cool morning. Freeze unwrapped, then wrap with transparent saran in amounts suitable to your use. When "party" day comes, you can be cool and unhurried and will be assured of a pleasant relaxed time with your guests.

Fruit Pastry Squares
1 cup butter or margarine, room temperature
1 package (8 ounce) cream cheese, room temperature
1/2 cup sugar
2 tbsps. grated lemon rind
3/4 tsp. salt
4 1/2 cups sifted flour
1 1/4 cups thick apricot or prune filling or very thick orange marmalade
Confectioner's sugar

Cream together the butter, cream cheese, sugar, lemon rind and salt. Add flour, a small amount at a time; mix well. Shape into a roll. Cut into thirds. Wrap each piece in saran; chill. Roll one portion of dough at a time on a lightly floured board, rolling dough into an oblong 6 1/2 inches wide and 12 1/2 inches long. Cut into eight 3-inch squares. Place 1 scant tablespoonful of filling in center of each square. Fold the 4 corners to center over filling and press crust together gently. Arrange 1 inch apart on baking sheet. Bake in slow oven (325°F.) until done, about 30 minutes. Remove from pan at once; cool on wire rack. Sprinkle tops with confectioner's sugar. Freeze. Wrap in saran, individually or in the amount desired for one meal. Store in freezer. Yield: 24 squares.

Now Time to Check Out Storage

Farmers were urged today to check on their available storage. Be sure they have enough to take care of their upcoming crops.

H. B. Gilbert, chairman, County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, reminded growers that a recent modification in the farm storage facility loan program of the Commodity Credit Corporation makes it possible for them to borrow up to 95 per cent of the outlay for farm storage facilities costing 40 cents per bushel or less to build. Previously, loans in these types of facilities were limited to 80 per cent of the cost.

For facilities costing more per bushel, farmers may borrow up to 95 per cent of 40 cents per bushel or 80 per cent of the cost, whichever is greater, but not more than 50 cents per bushel of capacity.

The chairman pointed out that a similar change has been made in the loan program for mobile dryers, which now enables farmers to borrow up to 95 per cent of the delivered and assembled cost of equipment to keep grain stored in proper condition. Previously, these loans were limited to 75 per cent of the cost of equipment.

For 1961, corn and grain sorghum producers will be eligible for price support on their feed grain crops only if they participate in the 1961 feed grain program.

SUSPENSE

A Short Short Story

ADVENTURE AT THE CAFE COUNTER
By LESTER ARNO

Adventure is to be found in many places, high and low. And in between.

The Corner Cafe is such an in-between place.

Here between a peanut butter on toast and a bacon and tomato on rye, there is adventure.

The peanut butter on toast is being eaten by Gerald Willoughby, late of Tipton, Iowa, and the bacon and tomato on rye is being consumed by Harriet Maxwell, flipped over twice.

State Police identified the victim as Miss Dolores J. Monsivaiz, 30, of Abilene. They said she died instantly of a broken neck.

"Not bad. If she'd do something with her hair."

formerly of Red Wing, Minn. Miss Maxwell is 22, a graduate of the University of Minnesota, and resides at the Reynolds Club for Women, one block south.

Mr. Willoughby is 25, a graduate of the University of Iowa, and he lives at a rooming house one block in the other direction.

Ingredients for adventure? Consider. Two young people of opposite sexes, residing only two blocks from each other, and at this moment, sitting opposite each other at the Corner Cafe.

Let us watch what happens.

To accomplish this we employ the device of radio and television called "stream of consciousness," employed by the late Eugene O'Neill in "Strange Interlude." On television the soap opera heroines contort their faces and twist their handkerchiefs while a pre-recorded sound track plays to enlighten us as to their innermost feelings.

In our drama, Miss Maxwell daintily munches her bacon and tomato on rye, and Mr. Willoughby manfully masticates his peanut butter on toast.

Mr. Willoughby's eyes are on Miss Maxwell. He watches her movements, appraising her carefully.

Miss Maxwell does not appear to be watching him. But she knows he is there, watching her. She has looked him over without seeming to do so, as any woman can. She carefully avoids any sign of being aware of him.

While their jaws work, what are they thinking?

Let us listen for a few moments, via stream of consciousness, to their innermost thoughts.

Miss M: He's rather nice looking. Could have a little more chin. Jaw, that is. Wears his clothes well.

Mr. W: Not bad. If she'd do something with her hair. Good table manners.

Miss M: I wonder if he's married.

Mr. W: She can't be married.

Miss M: No. He's single. He doesn't have that domesticated look.

Mr. W: Not bad. Not real good of course. Should do something with her hair.

Miss M: His chin is determined. Even if there isn't quite enough of it.

Mr. W: Should I wait until she's finished and meet her at the cashier's cage?

Miss M: I really should go. Looks like he's finished.

Mr. W: Steady, boy. Wait her out. Remember the last one and that picnic with her Sunday School class.

Miss M: Stop being an idiot. You know you wouldn't let yourself be picked up. In the Corner Cafe, of all places.

This is the end of our little dialogue. Miss Maxwell and Mr. Willoughby pay their respective checks and go their respective ways.

Thwarted romance? Adventure that might have been?

Perhaps. But this scene has been played at the Corner Cafe.

For a happier ending, it is suggested that you go to your local movie house. If you're lucky, perhaps you'll find that Marilyn Monroe is appearing.

Somewhat, real life has not as yet caught up with the movies.

May Ask Cities to Help Bonds

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Municipal League board will meet with Gov. Orval E. Faubus Thursday to discuss whether cities will be asked to help pass a $80 million state bond issue.

But League President Hugh Brewer of Fort Smith said that at the moment he knows of no concerted effort to get cities to donate funds to help pass the Faubus-backed bond issue at a special election June 27.

Brewer said Thursday's meeting may determine whether such an effort will be made.

JFK's Back Brings Hot Conference

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy's aides have been far less prompt with news about his back injury—described as not serious—than President Eisenhower's staff was with information about his truly serious illness.

You might get the impression—listening to Kennedy's press secretary, Pierre Salinger—that news just travels slower in White House circles these days. But one thing is sure.

Salinger is either a lot more tardy in learning what happens to his boss—or in telling the press about it—than was ever the case with Ames Hagerly, who was Eisenhower's press secretary.

As a result, Salinger Tuesday got into one of the hottest news conferences he's had since taking over as Kennedy's press secretary.

According to the White House, Kennedy hurt his back May 16 while in Canada turning a spadeful of earth during a ceremony. With an aching back he went to Europe for separate talks with British Prime Minister Macmillan, French President de Gaulle, and Soviet Premier Khrushchev.

But it wasn't until June 8, two days after Kennedy's return from Europe, that Salinger revealed the injury. By this time Kennedy had been in pain three weeks.

Why had the news been bottled up that long? Salinger put the responsibility on the President and said Kennedy hadn't even mentioned it to his personal staff.

Yet Salinger said Kennedy had been on crutches two days at his Hyannis Port, Mass., home before leaving May 30 for Europe. This raised an immediate question: Didn't Kennedy's staff know about this? If not, where was the staff?

While Salinger insisted the back injury wasn't serious—and wasn't at all related to previous back injuries which required three operations—the long delay in letting it be known gave it importance.

When Salinger finally made the news known June 8 he did so by opening his conference with the announcement that "the President will appear today using crutches."

Once Kennedy did appear on crutches, of course, the news of the injury would be out anyway. So Salinger's revelation was only going to beat public knowledge by a few hours anyway.

Salinger said Kennedy was under the care of his White House physician, Dr. Janet Travell, who had treated him before for trouble with his back.

Salinger on Tuesday disclosed further that a New York specialist, Dr. Preston Wade, had been called down to Florida last week-end to examine Kennedy's back. Salinger said Dr. Wade agreed with Dr. Travell this injury was not related to previous ones.

But this disclosure also was tardy.

In the first place, it wasn't made until after Kennedy had cancelled a speaking engagement. The White House said the speech was canceled so the President could give his back a chance to rest. Salinger said he himself learned only Tuesday that Dr. Wade had been called to Palm Beach Sunday.

In the second place, even Dr. Wade's appearance in the case was handled in a way that was something less than completely direct.

Salinger didn't go to Florida with Kennedy. But Andrew T. Hatcher, assistant press secretary, was there. Salinger said Hatcher didn't know Dr. Wade had been called in Sunday. But Hatcher was asked specifically last Friday by The Associated Press whether Dr. Wade was being called in. This question was based on reports that he was.

Hatcher said Dr. Wade was not being called in and would not be. Hatcher said Tuesday he did learn Saturday that the New York specialist was being called on.

But he never subsequently—until Salinger talked of it—revealed this knowledge, even though he had been asked the direct question about it.

Photographers Monday were kept at a distance when Kennedy, on crutches, boarded his return plane in Florida, got off it here, and later arrived by helicopter on the White House grounds.

The President reportedly is carrying on his usual White House work.

In 1955 the press was notified within 13 hours after Eisenhower suffered a heart attack. Thereafter newsmen were kept fully and continually informed.

The same thing happened in 1957 when Eisenhower suffered an ileitis attack that later required an operation. The press was notified within 12 hours after he was stricken. When Eisenhower had a small stroke in 1957 the press got the news within 24 hours.

America's best customers for exports are Canada and Japan, in that order.

Bridal Party Punch

June bridal parties call for refreshments as pleasing to the eye as to the palate. Delicate colors in decorations fit the mood, as do dainty tea sandwiches and cookies. To toast the happy couple, serve a refreshing punch made with convenient and economical frozen Florida orange juice concentrate and gingerale.

This punch is quick to make yet sacrifices nothing in looks or flavor. Served in a large handsome punch bowl, it is decorative as well as practical. Strawberries and orange or lime slices can be floated for an extra festive touch. Keep the recipe handy for anniversary and graduation parties, too, because everybody likes orange juice.

Florida Bridal Party Punch

4 cans (6 ounces each)
Florida frozen orange juice concentrate 5 cups cold water
1 quart water and ice cubes
1 quart chilled gingerale
2 Florida oranges, thinly sliced
Strawberries, optional

Combine undiluted concentrate with the 5 cups cold water in punch bowl. Add additional water and ice cubes; stir until melted. Add gingerale. Garnish with quartered orange slices and strawberries. Yield: 32 1/2-cup servings.

Would Make Berlin a Free City

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., suggested today establishment of an internationally protected free city of Berlin to avert an East-West nuclear clash.

Mansfield, the Senate's Democratic leader, said that if the world must live indefinitely with a divided Germany, peace itself requires that "Berlin—all Berlin—be held in peace and trust until the day of unification."

He said that the way to peace cannot be found either in Soviet Premier Khrushchev's proposal to turn only U.S.-supported West Berlin into a free city or in the West's insistence on a status quo in Berlin until Germany is reunited.

"Berlin is the lever which may ease Europe toward a more durable security or push the Western nations and the Soviet Union into a new vortex of irrationality at whose center lies the graveyard of humanity," Mansfield said in a speech prepared for Senate delivery.

Mansfield said that the United States will not be "driven, pushed or barred" from fulfilling its responsibilities for freedom in Berlin.

But he warned that the U.S. commitment to Berlin's defense extends from a beginning of firmness "to a final pledge of the lives and fortunes of every man, woman and child in the nation."

"We are not engaged at Berlin with the fast draw and wax bullets of television any more than the Russians are engaged in a harmless game of chess," Mansfield said. "In the last analysis we are engaged now, as we have been in Berlin, with the whole future of the United States."

Mansfield made clear that in advancing his suggestion, which is close to a position he has been advocating for years, he was speaking as an individual senator.

He said that in addition to the Western proposal for a free West Berlin and the Western insistence on a status quo, "a third way may lie in the creation of a free city not in West Berlin alone, but in the creation of a free city which embraces all Berlin—the Communist East no less than the free Western segment of that metropolis."

Unless both sides change their positions, Mansfield concluded, "sooner or later, Berlin is likely to become the pivot of a new disaster for mankind."

Sheriffs Elect New Officers

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Sheriff C. A. Griffin of Iberville Parish, La., today was elected president of the National Sheriffs Association.

He succeeds Sheriff Robert S. Moore of Desha County Ark. Griffin, of Plaquemine, La., has been first vice president of the national group for the past year.

He also is president of the Louisiana Sheriff Association. Griffin, 43, is serving his 16th year as sheriff.

A banquet and dance tonight will wind up the three-day meeting.

Nomination of Ridge Confirmed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate confirmed by unanimous voice today the nomination by President Kennedy of Albert A. Ridge of Missouri as U.S. circuit judge for 8th circuit—Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri, Arkansas, Nebraska, North Dakota and South Dakota.

State Wants Money for Road Damage

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Arkansas won't issue permits to haul steel to missile launching sites until somebody agrees to pay for highway damage. Highway Director F. R. Oliver said today.

Oliver said the state would stand firm in its policy, which has resulted in a deadlock involving the federal government and the missile base contractor, Midland Constructors.

But Oliver said two Arkansas congressmen are trying to arrange a solution. He said Sen. J. W. Fulbright and Rep. Wilbur Mills are trying to get a federal highway bill amended to permit the government to pay for roads damaged in military construction.

The law now allows payment for roads damaged in military maneuvers, he said.

Oliver said he replied to a letter from Midland asking clarification of highway policy on weight limits that no permits will be allowed until the repair question is settled. Arkansas' maximum truck load is 56,000 pounds, but special permits are issued for loads up to 90,000 pounds.

Steel for the missile launching sites around Little Rock Air Force base weighs 60 tons or more—and Oliver said one load was weighed at 151,000 pounds.

Army Engineers say there is no way to get the steel beams to the 18 missile sites except by truck and the loads cannot be divided to reach the 90,000-pound limit.

The Highway Department has put a 30,000-pound load limit and a 35-mile-per-hour speed limit on highways leading to the missile sites.

It acted after a meeting with federal officials in Washington failed to arrive at a solution.

The state had asked the federal government to pay for repairs, estimated at $2 to $3 million by the time the missile work is finished.

Issues Can Go on Same Ballot

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Both local and state bond issue proposals may go on the same ballot, the attorney general's office ruled Tuesday. The opinion went to Pros. Atty. Royce Weisenberger of Hope, who said an industrial bond issue vote is scheduled in Miller County June 27, the same date as the statewide vote on Gov. Orval E. Faubus proposed $60 construction bond program. If separate ballots are used, Weisenberger was told, separate ballot boxes also must be used.

Ready To Freeze Popbars Are "Kool"

New, ready to freeze pops keep hot, tired youngsters happy on long summer afternoons. Cool and frosty, these new pop bars come in convenient see-through packets that serve as a mold for freezing the delicious fruit flavored liquid and as a no-drip wrapper for eating. These economical summer refreshers come eight to a package in lemon-lime, orange, grape and cherry—flavors popular with children.

Ready to freeze pop bars can be stored conveniently in the grocery cabinet until ready to freeze and eat. There's no mixing and no need to use precious ice cube trays... just slip them into the freezing compartment of the refrigerator, placing them on the bottom or against the wall.

When the pop bars are frozen, tear off an individual pop, open the top and slip the ice stick partially out of the wrapper.

How To Enjoy Your Own Party

Don't just give a party, go to it yourself! Planning and pre-cooking a company meal lets you enjoy your own party.

Next time you entertain, why not prepare a luscious and substantial meal and store it in the freezer and refrigerator? Today's streamline unit, with its neatly organized "pantry door" liner of easy-to-clean plastic, provides both freezer storage and refrigeration to keep food appetizingly fresh and garden crisp for weeks or days.

Favorite refrigerator party fare includes chilled shrimp in the round, baked ham, macaroni and cheese (which can be reheated to a bubble), frozen berry souffle, homemade biscuits, cookies, assorted relishes and beverage.

A spectacular sort of appetizer, chilled shrimp in the round is prepared a day or two before the party, and kept in the refrigerator until ready to serve.

Chilled Shrimp in The Round

1/2 cup canned tomato sauce
1 1/2 cups rich mayonnaise
3 tablespoons lemon juice
Dash Tabasco
1 envelope unflavored gelatin
1/4 cup cold consommé or water
2 pounds shrimp, cooked and peeled Sliced cucumber
Sliced radishes
Toasted slivered almonds

Combine tomato sauce, mayonnaise, lemon juice and Tabasco. Soften gelatin in consommé or water, then dissolve over hot water. Stir liquid gelatin into combined ingredients. Add additional seasoning, if desired. Chill in refrigerator until mixture begins to thicken. Arrange a few shrimp on the bottom and sides of a buttered round-bottom bowl. Halve remaining shrimp and stir into mixture, turn into prepared bowl and chill until firm, or overnight. To serve, turn out on plate and garnish with cucumber and radish slices, slivered nuts. Makes 6-8 servings.

Two Terms to Make JFK Look Old

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — If President Kennedy serves two terms, he'll look like an oldtimer in world affairs when he leaves the White House in January 1969.

The reasons:

1. At 44 he is now 23 years younger than any of 10 major world leaders.

2. By 1969 most of them probably will be out of the picture. At the moment none of them shows signs of weakening, politically or physically.

But the three youngest are already 67, or 23 years older than Kennedy: Russia's Premier Khrushchev, Britain's Prime Minister Macmillan and Red China's boss, Mao Tse-tung.

If Kennedy and these three hang on till January 1969, then Kennedy will be close to 54, Khrushchev and Macmillan will be nearing 75, and the Red Chinese leader will have reached 75.

The oldest world leader now, West Germany's Chancellor Adenauer, at 85 is 41 years older than the President. By American inauguration day, Jan. 20, 1969, he'd be 93.

Here, in the descending order of their years, are the other six leaders with their present age and, in parentheses, their age on the day Kennedy would finish a second term, if they're still around:

Chiang Kai-shek, boss of Nationalist China on Formosa, 73 (81).

Antonio Salazar, dictator of Portugal, 72 (79).

India's Prime Minister Nehru, 71 (79).

France's President de Gaulle, 70 (78).

Yugoslavia's Marshal Tito, 69 (76).

Francisco Franco, dictator of Spain, 68 (76).

These next eight years will take a toll in men and no doubt make a change in nations.

In eight years Red China probably will have nuclear bombs. Up till now the Chinese Communists, lacking the power with which the United States protects Chiang on Formosa, have limited themselves to nuisance bombardments of offshore islands—no real danger to Formosa 110 miles away.

But once they get nuclear de-struction, the picture in Asia will change, the threats to Formosa should become more fierce.

Dictator Salazar of Portugal looked solid in his job for so long as he lived. Then natives in the Portuguese African colony of Angola began storming for freedom, killing as they went and being killed.

Angola seems bound to blow up before another eight years have passed. If it does, Salazar may be destroyed in the ruins. Nehru in India seems so solid with his people that he figures to run the show so long as he lives, unless within these next eight years there come explosions which now can't be guessed at.

In France De Gaulle is now head man. But his presidency may not be too secure, particularly if the French problem with Algeria takes a new and savage turn or the army turns on him.

In Yugoslavia Tito looks powerful enough to stay where he is. So does Franco in Spain—so long as he lives.

It doesn't seem likely Adenauer could stand the strain of office until he's 93. Even if he does, some terribly tense days lie ahead for his country in the Western struggle with Russia over Berlin.

There's no sign anyone is trying to shove Khrushchev or Mao Tse-tung aside. In their case their only problem in continuing to boss the show would seem to depend on their health.

As for Britain's Macmillan—he's a busy man but the strain of office seems to be showing. He looks tired.

Spa Banker Dies

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — J. O. Langley, 71, a retired Hot Springs banker, died in a hospital here Tuesday night after a long illness. Langley had lived here 47 years. He is survived by his widow and three daughters. Funeral arrangements were incomplete.

cool yet satisfying—

Oatmeal Bread, Fruit Salad, Punch

For a cool yet satisfying luncheon, serve Oatmeal Orange Nut Bread and butter sandwiches with fresh fruit salad, and lemonade or punch. This moist, tender bread is a good keeper.

Homemade cereal quick breads can add so much flavor and interest to summer meals. Ready to serve just as they come from the refrigerator or after thawing from the freezer, they eliminate a lot of last minute preparations. The ingredient use of breakfast cereals is one way to insure that a well-balanced diet is served.

Oatmeal Orange Nut Bread

3 cups sifted all-purpose flour 1/2 cup chopped nuts
4 teaspoons baking powder 2 teaspoons grated orange rind
3/4 teaspoon soda 1 1/2 cups orange juice
2 teaspoons salt 1/4 cup honey
1 1/2 cups rolled oats, quick or regular, uncooked 1/4 cup melted fat

Sift together flour, baking powder, soda, and salt. Stir in oats and nuts. Combine orange rind and juice, honey, and fat. Add to dry ingredients, mix only enough to moisten ingredients. Pour into greased 9 x 5 x 3-inch loaf pan. Bake in moderate oven (350°F) until done, about 1 hour. Yield: 1 loaf.

Says Foreign Aid Bill Will Hit Trouble

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department was asked to justify military aid to economically underdeveloped nations. In essence, Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., asked Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara to say whether rifles and tanks would stave off communism more easily in these nations than food and jobs.

McNamara was asked specifically to compare effects of aid given to Pakistan, a heavy recipient of U.S. arms, and to India, which has received only economic aid from the United States.

McNamara said he would send Fulbright the conclusions reached in a series of classified studies.

Fulbright's request was made at a hearing of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, which he heads, on the $1.8-billion military aid portion of the administration's $4.8-billion foreign aid request.

In a related development, the Commerce Department reported that foreign aid outlays increased last year from $3.9 billion to $4.5 billion, reversing a two-year downward trend.

Fulbright said in an interview that despite the foreign aid program's revamping, its projects "follow too closely the old patterns of the past." He said that its administration should be directed to the application of more selective and discerning aid.

Fulbright said that passage of the President's program in anything like the amounts he asked "will require one of the toughest fights of the year." He added that Kennedy and his administration will have to give strong support to the measure on both sides of the Capitol.

An appeal was made by Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., to direct foreign aid only to nations which will undertake meaningful political and economic reform.

Humphrey, assistant Senate Democratic leader, said that both Congress and the American people "are sick and tired of foreign aid going to governments that are unresponsive to human need, unwilling to bring about social reform."

Negro Woman Dies in Freak Accident

TRUMANN, Ark. (AP)—A Negro woman cotton chopper was killed today in a freak automobile accident on a plantation near here.

Trooper Bob Cooper said the victim was identified as Viola Cribbs, 65, of Memphis.

Cooper gave this account:

The woman and other workers had ridden from Memphis to the Judd Hill Plantation in a station wagon driven by Hosea Jones, 48, of Memphis. Jones stopped the vehicle and got out, setting the emergency brake. But as the woman started to get out, she brushed the automatic transmission lever into reverse and accidentally hit the gas pedal. This sent the station wagon shooting backwards.

The woman was thrown out, dragged 50 feet, then run over by a front wheel of the vehicle.

Blonde Pole Made Spy of American

By W. B. RAGSDALE JR.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Overtones of a classic spy thriller cloak the case of an American Foreign Service officer charged with giving U.S. secrets to Communist Poland.

A blonde Polish spy was reported to have lured Irvin Chambers Scarbeck, 41, bespectacled father of four, into turning over classified information to Communist agents while he served in the U.S. Embassy in Warsaw.

Scarbeck was held in jail after bond was set at $50,000. He was arrested Tuesday by FBI agents on a Washington street.

The complaint filed by the Justice Department before U.S. Commissioner Sam Vertlieb said Scarbeck admitted communicating to Polish agents information that was classified "as affecting the security of the United States."

The State Department, citing his "service, loyalty and devotion to duty," had given him a meritorious service award for his work in 1957 while supervising the department's exchange program in San Francisco.

Sen. J. William Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, told reporters, "I understand the root of the trouble was a woman. I was in-

Subjects in Science Are Varied

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A remarkable talkative satellite, teams of science data, and an assassin bug are subjects for science at work.

Remember?

Three years ago the United States threw up a puny challenge to the Soviet Sputniks, a grapefruit-sized satellite called Vanguard I.

Using solar power it is still transmitting radio signals and possibly will for hundreds of years. By now it has orbited the earth nearly 12,000 times, covering more than 400 billion miles.

So far it has helped scientists learn: That the earth is slightly pear-shaped. That the light from the sun has enough pressure to modify the path of a satellite in orbit. That sunlight can be converted to electricity for radio power. That the gravity of the life's orbit around the earth.

Reading Material

If you set out to scan the 60 million pages of technical literature produced in the world last year alone, it would take you 465 years.

And think about this: Each 24 hours the world's scientists produce enough technical papers to fill seven sets of the Encyclopedia Britannica.

And if that isn't frightening enough, every ten years the amount of technical literature in existence doubles, writes Lawrence Ross in a Georgia Tech publication, Research Engineer.

Masked Bedbug Hunters
It is masked and it hunts bedbugs and it is called the masked bedbug hunter, one of a group of assassin bugs that live off other insects.

The assassin bugs live all over the Americas, but mostly south of the New York — Denver latitude. Most of them live on the blood of other insects.

Curiously the masked bedbug hunter looks like a bit of Jim when it is still young, thanks to the fact that dust and fibers stick to its body. You'd hardly notice it unless it moved, says a report on assassin bugs prepared by the Smithsonian Institution.

formed a Polish blonde seduced him and then blackmailed him."

The Justice Department gave no details about the information Scarbeck was charged with passing to foreign agents. There were indications the information was of a political rather than a military nature.

State Department press officer Lincoln White, replying to questions, said, "any espionage is of major importance. I do not think the case would have gone to the Justice Department if U.S. security had not been involved."

If convicted, Scarbeck faces a possible maximum sentence of 10 years in prison, a $10,000 fine, or both.

Scarbeck had been assigned to the Warsaw embassy for 2 1/2 years. His duties largely involved the housekeeping chores of running the establishment, but he had some access to classified material.

Reassigned to Naples, Italy, Scarbeck was with his family on leave in Düsseldorf, Germany, last week when he was summoned to Washington.

Chicken Sesame—Summer Dish

Summer meals take on extra interest, almost as if by magic, when the main dish is chicken with sesame seasoning. Actually, chicken stands high on any list because of its delicate flavor, the ease and variety of ways of cooking and the way it combines with so many other foods. Chicken is an economical buy, divides readily into serving pieces and when cooked in corn oil has even more unusual food values.

Chicken seasoned with sesame and ginger has an Oriental flavor. The recipe is simple to follow because the chicken, brushed with corn oil and seasoned, cooks to a golden rich brown in the oven. Turn it only once for golden browning on all sides. Served with a green salad, dressed with a corn oil and cider vinegar dressing, chicken sesame makes an ideal meal for guests or family.

Oven Fried Sesame Chicken

2 broiler-fryer chickens
1/2 teaspoon ginger
Salt

Pepper
Corn oil
Sesame seed

Cut chicken into serving pieces. Wash and dry chicken. Rub chicken pieces with ginger; sprinkle with salt and pepper. Brush chicken pieces with corn oil. Pour corn oil to depth of 1/4 inch in a 9 x 13-inch baking dish. Place chicken pieces, skin side down, in corn oil. Sprinkle with sesame seed. Bake in a moderately hot oven (400°F.) 30 minutes. Turn chicken pieces and sprinkle with sesame seed. Bake 15 minutes longer. Makes 8 servings.

French Dressing

1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon sugar
1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
1/2 teaspoon paprika

1/4 teaspoon monosodium glutamate
1/2 cup corn oil
1/4 teaspoon cayenne pepper
1/4 cup cider vinegar

Mix together salt, sugar, dry mustard, paprika and monosodium glutamate. Add oil and cayenne and stir until well blended. Add vinegar and beat or shake well. Beat or shake well just before serving. Use with favorite tossed green salad. Makes 1 cup.
